

PREVENTION OF SEXUAL EXPLOITATION AND ABUSE (PSEA) POLICY

I. The Policy Statement

Mercy Hands is committed to providing a safe environment for all its employees, beneficiaries, partners, and contractors, free from any type of discrimination, exploitation, harassment, or abuse, including of a sexual nature. Mercy Hands has a zero tolerance policy for any form of sexual exploitation, abuse (SEA) or harassment, and shall treat all incidents seriously, with prompt investigation of any allegations. Any person found guilty of SEA or harassment will face disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal from employment. No one shall be victimized for making a complaint of SEA or harassment.

Mercy Hands understands that gender relations create unequal conditions which particularly, but not exclusively, affect women and girls, exposing them to higher risk of harassment, abuse, discrimination, and exploitation.

The objective of this policy is to define SEA and harassment and to outline procedures for filing complaints, investigating claims and issuing appropriate disciplinary measures in the case of violations.

II. Definitions

Sexual exploitation and abuse (SEA) affect persons of concern, while sexual harassment refers to employees. The following definitions are from UNHCR:

Sexual exploitation is any actual or attempted abuse of a person in a position of vulnerability, differential power, or trust, for sexual purposes, including, but not limited to, profiting monetarily, socially or politically from the sexual exploitation of another.

Sexual abuse is the actual or threatened physical intrusion of a sexual nature, whether by force, or under unequal or coercive conditions. It includes sexual slavery, pornography, child abuse and sexual assault.

Sexual harassment affects personnel and is defined as any unwelcome sexual advance, request for sexual favor, verbal or physical conduct or gesture of a sexual nature, or any other behavior of a sexual nature that might reasonably be expected or be perceived to cause offence or humiliation to another. It can interfere with work, be made a condition of employment or create an intimidating, hostile or offensive environment.

Examples of behavior which constitutes SEA or harassment include, but are not limited to:

- Physical conduct
 - Unwelcome physical contact including pinching, stroking, kissing, hugging, fondling, or inappropriate touching
 - Physical violence, including sexual assault

- Verbal conduct
 - Comments on someone's appearance, private life or perceived sexual orientation,

gender identity and the way these might be expressed

- Sexual comments, stories and/or jokes
- Unwanted propositions for physical intimacy
- The use of work-related threats or rewards to solicit sexual favors
- Sending sexually explicit messages (e.g. by phone or by email)

➤ Non-verbal conduct

- Display of sexually explicit or suggestive material
- Sexually-suggestive gestures
- Wolf whistling
- Leering

Anyone can be a complainant of SEA or harassment, regardless of their gender, sexuality and individual attributes, and it may also occur between people of the same sex. What matters is that the sexual conduct is unwanted and unwelcome by the person against whom the conduct is directed. It often occurs within unequal relationships, for example between an employee and a beneficiary or between a manager and employee. This dynamic can be aggravated with at risk groups (such as sexual, ethnic, or religious minorities).

All SEA and harassment are prohibited, whether it takes place on Mercy Hands premises or outside, including at meetings, field visits, workshops, social events, distribution sites, training sessions or conferences sponsored by Mercy Hands. Anyone, including Mercy Hands employees, volunteers, donors, beneficiaries, casual workers, contractors or visitors, found guilty of SEA or harassment will be reprimanded in accordance with this policy.

Sexual activity with children (persons under the age of 18) is prohibited, regardless of the local age of consent, as expressed in the Child Safeguarding Policy.

III. PSEA Reporting and Investigation Procedure

All Mercy Hands' beneficiaries, employees, interns, consultants, volunteers and all other entities working with Mercy Hands have access to a confidential mechanism that allows them to make a SEA complaint safely.

Complaints Procedure for SEA Witnesses

All Mercy Hands' beneficiaries, employees, interns, consultants, volunteers and all other entities working with Mercy Hands must report any observed or suspected SEA or harassment. Please refer to Mercy Hands' Whistleblower Policy for mechanisms and procedures for reporting an observed or suspected SEA or harassment. The Whistleblower Policy is available on Mercy Hands' website at www.mercyhands.org/policiesandprocedures

Complaints Procedure for SEA Victims

Reporting Complaints: Employees

Any employee who feels subject to harassment should, if possible, inform the alleged harasser that the conduct is unwelcome and must stop. Mercy Hands recognizes that if harassment occurs in unequal relationships, it may not be possible for the complainant to inform the alleged harasser without fear of harm or retaliation.

If a complainant cannot directly approach an alleged harasser, s/he should approach Mercy Hands PSEA focal point as soon as possible after the incident has occurred. The designated PSEA focal point at Mercy Hands is Dr. Sarah A'amer (director@iraqitelemedicine.com | hotline: +964 7730387647).

Complaints can also be made through HR or MEAL staff member, suggestion boxes in MH offices, or the complaint form: <https://www.mercyhands.org/complaintform>

Regardless of how the complaint is made or who it is made to, all sexual harassment complaints will be redirected to the Mercy Hands PSEA focal point, who in turns will inform the Chairman.

Reporting Complaints: Beneficiaries

Any beneficiary who feels subject to SEA may complain through one of many methods provided under each project.

- Project helpline (call or text)
- Online form: <https://www.mercyhands.org/complaintform>
- Email Address: director@iraqitelemedicine.com
- The free UN IDP Call Centre (80069999)
- Suggestion box
- Face to face (meetings, project activities, field visits, etc.)
- Help desk
- Social media
- Surveys (PDMs, Satisfaction Surveys, etc.)

According to the MEAL Department's procedures on complaints and feedback from beneficiaries, no matter the source or type of complaint, all feedback is forwarded to the MEAL Department and documented in the CFRM database. All complaints involving sexual abuse or exploitation will then be referred to the Mercy Hands PSEA focal point.

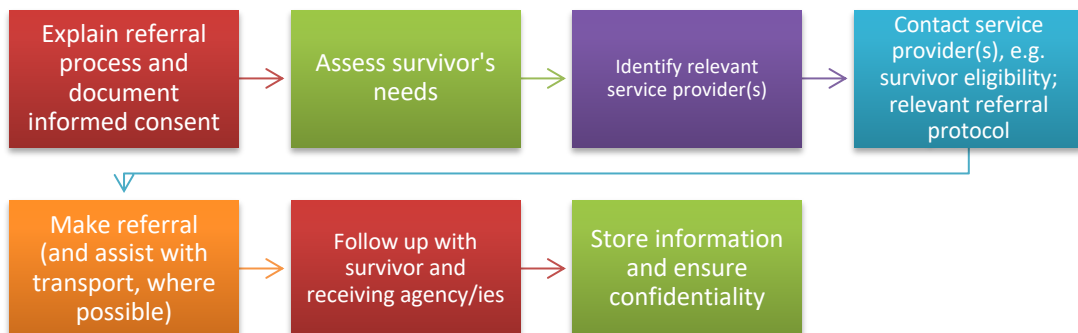

Processing Complaints: PSEA Focal Point

- When the PSEA focal point receives complaints, she will immediately address the following questions:
 - Is the complainant still at risk?
 - Is the harassment or SEA ongoing?
 - Does the complainant feel safe going back to the location of services/workplace?
 - Does this person need psychosocial support now, or during the process of investigation?
- After assessing the immediate risks and needs of the complainant, the focal point shall:
 - Assure the complainant that all complaints will be kept confidential to the degree requested by him or her, unless her or others' safety is directly at risk
 - Give the complainant the option of submitting their complaint to an external party and provide them with UN contact information and any other relevant external party contact information.
 - Record the dates, times and facts of the incident(s). When recording the incident, the complaint should include as much information as possible, including:
 - Names and positions of all involved, including any witnesses
 - When and where the incident occurred

- The nature of the SEA or harassment
- A description of any visible sign of abuse or other injuries, if physical assault
- An accurate account of what was said, if verbal harassment
- Whether anyone else knows or has been given the information
- What steps have already been taken
- Ascertain the views of the complainant as to what outcome s/he wants
- Confirm whether the complainant wants to pursue an informal resolution or a formal investigation, after:
 - Ensuring that the complainant understands Mercy Hands' procedures for dealing with the complaint
 - Ensuring that the complainant understands that choosing to resolve the matter informally at first does not preclude the complainant from pursuing a formal complaint if he/she is not satisfied with the outcome
 - Ensuring that the complainant knows that they can lodge the complaint outside of Mercy Hands through the relevant legal framework
- Throughout this conversation, the PSEA focal point must respect all choices of the complainant. She must also ensure that full confidentiality is respected. The ONLY situation in which the focal point may break confidentiality is if the safety of the complainant or anyone else is at risk. All reports, emails, and other documentation throughout the investigation should not include the complainant's name.
- All discussions and actions taken are to be recorded, and all records are to be kept confidential. The PSEA focal point will manage a secure database which only she, MEAL Director, Executive Director, and Chairman have access to. The database will include all details of the complainant and complaint, whether it is by an employee or beneficiary, the informal or formal actions taken, and all results of these actions. All active and inactive cases must be kept logged in this database.
- The PSEA Focal Point will refer the SEA victim to Mercy Hands' Legal Counselor for psychosocial and legal support, using the referral form (see Annex 9).
- All complaints must be reported to the Executive Director who serves as the Chair of the PSEA Management Committee. Refer to Annexes 6 and 7 for a description of Reporting Mechanisms Review and Investigation Procedures of SEA Allegations & Cases.
- If an investigation is launched, then the investigator(s) will:
 - Interview the complainant
 - After doing a risk assessment and planning for contingency measures, interview the alleged harasser separately
 - Interview other relevant third parties separately and gather relevant evidence
 - Decide whether or not there is valid proof of sexual harassment
 - Produce a report detailing the investigations, findings and recommendations of actions to be taken, such as an apology, a change of working arrangements, training for the harasser, suspension, dismissal. This must be done in consultation with the complainant
 - Ensure that the recommendations are implemented, the behavior has stopped and the complainant is satisfied with the outcome
 - Follow up with the complainant throughout the investigative process to ensure s/he remains informed of all actions taken and provides his or her consent
- If it cannot be proven that the SEA or harassment took place, the complainant should continue to be monitored by PSEA Focal Point, and followed up on to make sure s/he is safe and no retaliatory measures have been taken.

IV. Assistance and Referrals

- Mercy Hands will ensure that survivors of SEA allegedly perpetrated by Mercy Hands personnel receive immediate professional assistance, either by providing them with direct services or referring them to relevant service providers where consent is given.
- Mercy Hands will consider the following aspects when facilitating assistance
 - Ensure that survivors have access to assistance regardless of decisions by Mercy Hands or others to investigate the case and regardless of the outcome of an investigation. Survivors are also not required to identify the perpetrator or prove that they are survivors of SEA to access services.
 - Have an updated list of local service providers.
 - Have a set procedure to guide the referral process that is aligned with existing inter-agency procedures and protocols. The process should outline the steps that personnel, particularly those receiving complaints, need to take and should provide them with updated referral forms (see Annex 8). The process should entail referring the survivor first to the Manager of Lawyers for Women Center, who can then facilitate referral to other appropriate services.
 - The following graphic outlines key steps involved in the referral process. Please note that PSEA Focal Point should be flexible in applying these steps and should adapt this process to meet the needs of the survivor, including those who are children.

- Always obtain informed and voluntary consent before facilitating assistance, respecting the right of a person.
- In the case of children, prioritize the best interests of the child, choosing the course of action that is most effective in protecting the child's rights to safety and ongoing development.
- Respect confidentiality, protecting identifying information of all those involved in the alleged incident.
- Consider potential risks for survivors (and their families) and take safety precautions, as needed.
